V. Reasoned statement under Article 35(2) with regard to novelty, inventive step or industrial applicability; citations and explanations supporting such statement

1. Statement

Novelty (N)	Claims	1-13	YES
	Claims		NO
Inventive step (IS)	Claims	1-13	YES
	Claims		NO
Industrial applicability (IA)	Claims	1-13	YES
	Claims		NO

2. Citations and explanations

The present report mentions the following search report citation (D1):

D1: EP-A-1 126 685 (SIEMENS INF & COMM NETWORKS) 22 August 2001 (2001-08-22)

- Document D1 is considered the prior art closest to the subject matter of claim 1.

Document D1 describes a problem similar to the one indicated in the application, i.e. the TSP (telephony service provider) database is updated only when the TSP is initialized and those terminals for which there are not yet any entries in the database cannot be accessed by means of the TSP. Furthermore, a running system cannot be updated by restarting the TSP because a number of TAPI lines are always engaged (paragraph [0005]).

The solution disclosed by document D1 is based on a method according to which, at the request of an administrator, a determination is made for all affected PBXs whether new TAPI-capable terminals have been added or if any have been deleted, and corresponding database deltas are created for the TSP (abstract).

PCT/DE 03/04171

Claims 1 (method) and 9 (device) specify an alternative solution to the problem of interest wherein TAPI lines are dynamically added to and then removed from the TSP database as required and as a function of monitoring of the terminals.

This substantive matter is not suggested by document D1, and an inventive step is therefore acknowledged for independent claims 1 and 9 (PCT Article 33(3)).

2. Claims 2-8 and 10-13 are dependent upon claims 1 and 9 and thus likewise satisfy the requirements of PCT Article 33(2) and (3).
